

Daniel Richards

me@builtbydani.dev | builtbydani.dev

Professional software developer working with modern web technologies

Technical Skills

Languages: JavaScript/TypeScript, Dart, SQL, C#, C++, Rust

Frameworks/Tools: Flutter, .Net 10, React, Node.js, Vite, TailwindCSS, TensorFlow, Pandas

Other: Azure DevOps, DataDog, Kibana, Swagger, Kafka, Github, CoPilot, Claude

Education

Bachelor of Science, Computer Science

University of Minnesota

May 2026

Relevant coursework:

Duluth, MN

- Machine Learning, Database Management, Computer Graphics, Computer Security, Software Engineering, Operating Systems
-

Projects

ShaderTrinket - Written in C++, using OpenGL. A personal development tool for writing shaders locally, inspired by ShaderToy. Includes live editing and hot reload capabilities, as well as parameter sliders and quick toggles to enhance development flow.

Typex - Written in Dart, using Flutter. A personal application for managing Pokemon teams, pulls in data via Pokemon API to ensure current information. Features a team builder, weakness analysis, and dynamic type matchup chart.

Work Experience

DigiKey - IT Intern, Mosaic Team

May 2026 - Present

- Managed and maintained chinese domain website, handling all order processing for rmb currency
- Assisted with log monitoring and verification of changes via Kibana and DataDog
- Completed development assignments using C# and .Net 10 framework, tasks included bug fixes, service changes, testing updates, modernization, and automation enhancements
- Fixed production facing bugs and deployed the changes successfully via Azure DevOps

ITSS MediaHub, University of Minnesota Duluth - Team Member

Jan 2025 – May 2026

- Resolved 10+ technical support requests per week for students and staff, covering media equipment and software.
- Audited and migrated 200+ inventory records, improving accuracy of university's equipment listings.
- Trained staff and students on audio/visual gear, increasing team efficiency.